

Meetup.com is a website that allows anyone to find groups of people who share similar interests. If you speak German, or like to weave, or go hiking you can locate groups of other people who do too. These groups schedule events and do stuff. Some charge and some do not. You join groups that you like with an email address and you receive information about the group events, no junk. The site does not sell or misuse your information. Listed below are some groups found a few weeks ago by searching for "Square Dancing".
